SES Kids Inc. celebrated its 8th annual Kids Incorporated corporate dinner on May 6th. It was the culmination of the year long after school student run businesses, Sweet Shoppe Bakery and Catalog Flyer Sales. Forty fourth and fifth grade students presented their “State of the Business Address” in PowerPoint for 150 guests. Also in attendance were SES Assistant Principal, Margaret Maher, Assistant Superintendent, Kathy Willis, Special Education Administrator, Katherine Harris, School Committee Members, Linda Litcofsky, Mary Murphy and Dina Sullivan.

NES Kindergarten students had a wonderful time singing “Oats and Beans and Barley Grow” during NES’s 375th Anniversary celebration. They enjoyed dressing up in period costume and learning about the life of a farmer. It was fun doing their work with the lights out. It will be fun to read their time capsule submissions when they are older.

In Foundations they are learning to read and write trick words such as: and, is, was, a, of, and the. They are also learning the difference between fiction and nonfiction with a focus on animal stories.

In science they are learning that all living things need sunlight, water and air in order to grow. Each classroom has planted seeds to observe.

In Investigations the focus is on number sentences. Students have explored the quantity six during activities. Because students need more than one hand to represent six on their fingers, they will naturally work with a combination of two numbers. This gives them many opportunities to represent and see six as one and five, two and four or three and three.

Grandparents as Guardians Support Group: Triton Regional School District and Pettengill House of Salisbury will be working in partnership next year to in efforts to support grandparents in our school communities who are acting as guardians for their grandchildren. The responsibility can be overwhelming and a support group will be formed to help address the issues that arise as a result. If you would like to pre-register for the group, please email ccollins@trsd.net and state your name and address and asked to be added to the grandparent support contact list.

A Variety of News from SES:

- May 10th Grades 1-2 will enjoy “Go Dog Go” a play by the Stoneham Theatre.
- May 20th Kindergarten will visit the Spencer-Peirce-Little Farm.

Congratulations should go out to Sixth grade teacher Dennis Donoghue who participated in and finished the Boston Marathon!!

Students in Mrs. Mungillo's first grade have been working on poetry writing with the help of Ms. McCarthy of the Title I department. For their latest project, the students created a watercolor and crayon painting, and then created a metaphor inspired by their artwork. Their work will be on display outside Ms. Mungillo's room.

Capri Sun Brigade is coming to close for this year on May 31st. SES has recycled over 6,000 pouches and raised $130.00 so far. They have many more pouches to send and hope to raise $150.00. There will be a drawing to see which classroom gets the money for school supplies. The campaign will begin again in September if the Student Council votes to continue the project.

On April 13th, our group of THS peer mediators was invited, along with peer mediators from Andover, to participate in a special experiential conflict resolution program held at Andover Memorial Hall. The event was organized by the North Shore Mediation Organization. After watching a series of conferences on video, all student participants engaged in discussions in regards to 'the power of story-telling in mediation'. Then, after receiving vital instructions and guidance, students from both Triton and Andover experimented with simulated case scenarios. Our students learned new strategies for listening, writing contracts, as well as resolving cases. Overall, it was a wonderful learning experience for our mediators. The organizers and participants of this event commented on how great our mediators from Triton were. They were indeed an excellent representation of the Triton community!

SES fourth grade classes are involved in a reading "contest" in which the kids read a book and fill out a form on the basic story elements of their books to get credit for reading. The contest has been on for the last 75 school days and Mr. Eaton's class has read over 21,000 pages in that time! Congratulations to Mr. Eaton's class!

These habitats will provide lots of chances for us to use the scientific method -- observing, drawing conclusions, and making predictions as scientists. We will also classify natural and human-made materials in the habitats, determine how the habitats meet the animals' needs for air, water, food, and shelter, and compare the habitats to our own. These projects are sure to be among the highlights of our learning experiences this year!

Pine Grove preschool just finished up their Mother's Day tea parties. Each child invited their Mother for a day of tea and treats. The children prepared by making cards, gifts and baking. This year each child presented their mother with a special decorated tea cup.

On May 6th, NES students and staff marked the 375th anniversary of Newbury. Wearing Colonial dress and using a minimum of electricity, we were transported back in time. Classes and members of the public visited our Living Museum. This collection of exhibits featured the work of students from preschool to grade six and chronicled the history of our community. In the auditorium, audiences were treated to a Maypole dance by sixth graders, songs by preschoolers and kindergarteners, and a Powerpoint created by fifth and sixth graders titled "Newbury: Then and Now." The Lobby was bustling with spinning wheel demonstrations and a Meet the Author table with historian Bethany Groff. First grade projects on schooling in Newbury and sixth graders' honor rolls of Newbury veterans were on display. Community collaborations such as an intergenerational quilt and a collage made by students at the town library with the help of librarian Laurie Collins and artist Giles LaRoche were also featured. In the hallway, second grade murals of Newbury scenes and third grade life-size examples of Colonial dress lined the walls. The Art Room featured interactive Colonial games made by fifth graders and fourth graders' immigration projects. Students and visitors alike found the Living Museum informative and engaging!

As with any large event, there are many people to thank for making it possible. The idea was conceived by Elaine White, Robin Williams, and Sylvia Jordan. The planning committee that worked tirelessly to bring this idea to life included teachers Jen Townsend, Kristin Mollineaux, Cheryl Wotton, Jen Lapham, David Williams, Amy Fremont-Smith, Moriah Lucy, Bonnie Langendorfer, Liz Raycroft, and Kelly Williamson, administrator Betsy Boulanger, Spencer Pierce-Little director Kathleen Corcoran, and parents Jen Wright and Robin Williams. Martie Smith-Joe at the Council on Aging helped with publicity and setting up interviews with former Newbury students. Parent volunteers, Zoe Fogarty, Cheryl Freeman, Renee Roth, Susan Moran, Linda Rivera, Pat Kelly, Michelle Papanicolao, Debbie Cooper, and Elaine White, led by Robin Williams, graciously helped to set up, run, and break down the Museum. We are also grateful to Port Sheet Metal for donating the container for our time capsule, to be opened on Newbury's 400th anniversary, May 6th, 2035!

SES Key Drive Final Tally: Salisbury Elementary School collected over 6000 keys during our Key Drive. The keys totaled 105 pounds! With this collection, they were able to add $220.00 worth of food to the Pettengill food pantry shelves!

Desserts, juice and coffee, prepared by Kids Club, will be served. Kids Club students will also be entertaining their guest with a few songs. This will bring to a close a year long relationship that the two groups have shared. They are looking forward to building lasting relationships between the two groups.

Week one - appetizers week two - pastas, week 3 – desserts, and on the fourth week, students would design their own menu combining all three. As a culminating project, students will create a menu, cookbook, and design a table-scape and invite a friend or family member to the last class for an open kitchen restaurant style dining experience. Basics will include kitchen safety, cooking tools, place settings, accurate measurement of ingredients, and the nutritional facts of the recipes chosen for the cookbook.

#4CLAYMATION

Instructor; Ms. Jennifer Dubis

Do you love movies like The Nightmare Before Christmas, Chicken Run or James and the Giant Peach? Does the idea of being a part of the movie-making process excite you? Well, come join in the fun of producing a Claymation movie! We will come up with a short story, create a storyboard, design a set and create the characters. Then we will photograph, animate and edit the movie and put it on a DVD to share with the world! There are so many creative careers out there and, if you love art, this would be a great start on your path to Hollywood!

#5 CREATIVE WRITING

Instructor: Mr. Joseph Colbert

Do you enjoy writing? Would you like to spend some time practicing your skills or just writing about what YOU want to write rather than what your teachers assign? Creative Writing is a class that will allow you to work on writing stories, poems, essays, and plays of your own, with topics and subjects that you choose. In this class, you'll create characters so real that your classmates will feel like they know them, settings so realistic that your readers will feel like they're in that place, and plots so interesting that your friends and family will be begging for more! At the conclusion of the class, we will select each student's best work for inclusion in an anthology to be published to all of your classmates, family, and friends, so even if you've never written anything, don't be afraid to try. Sign up for Creative Writing and begin work on your own bestseller!

#6 WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE?

Instructor: Ms. Erin Dempsey

Students will research their heritage and family tree. In addition to discovering more details about the nationalities, ancestry and various periods in history, students will make a video chronicling their journey of discovery. The class may also attempt to master a recipe for a food related to their nationality.

Instructor: Ms. Donna Forcier

Want to feel the wind blowing in your face? Need a lift? Come and get one! Learn about the history, the industry and the craft of hot air balloons and their flights. ### # 10 GREEN THUMB NURSERY

Instructors: Ms Astuccio & Ms. Kearney

Would you like to own and operate your very own nursery business with your own green house? This program introduces students to “garden based learning” in which they will design, plant and cultivate a garden on middle school grounds and run their very own green house built especially for them this past school year! These enrichment topics are consistent with the national “Farm to School” movement that seeks to connect children and schools with fresh food through engagement in hands-on education.

#11 Musical Workshop

Instructor: Harelquyn Theatre

In this enrichment workshop, students will create their very own short musical production, learning essential theatrical and musical skills in an environment full of fun. They will be introduced to age appropriate theater games to increase their improvisational skills. So, come join your friends, have fun and explore your creative and theatrical side.

#12 FORENSICS & CSI

Instructor: Ms. Leslie Blaney

The goal of this course is to give students an understanding of crime scene investigation. CSI is the process by which police and other law enforcement officials observe and dissect crime scenes to determine what took place, and to find clues that can lead to solving the crime. In this course, we will cover topics in forensic science including forensic psychology, how to collect and analyze evidence, studying a crime scene, and understanding the justice system. The students will act as forensic scientists and will be responsible for investigating a mock crime scene. Come spend your summer learning some of the techniques that actual CSI Technicians use to solve crimes. This course covers such topics as crime scene and eyewitness basics; physical evidence - fingerprinting, tire tracks and fibers; forensic entomology (bugs); chromatography, and blood basics. All this will lead to a final CSI challenge!

#13 QUILTING

Instructor: Ms. Elizabeth Valentine

Quilts can tell a story- what’s your story? Make a memory quilt of your own with materials that remind you of something or someone or start fresh with all new materials. Either way, this experience will be memorable. This course will introduce students to the art of quilting and they will make their very own lap quilt! Students will learn how to follow specific written direction (for the pattern they choose) and how to calculate and measure out how much fabric they will need for each section of their quilt. In addition to using a sewing machine, they will also learn to use special quilt making tools and choose complimenting colors to combine in a geometric design. A great introduction to the world of quilt making and sewing, as well as acquiring a skill that will last a lifetime!

INTRO TO CRIMINAL LAW AND INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS Instructor: Mr. John Farley

Do you think you might like to be a lawyer some day? This course will provide an understanding of practical law (criminal/individual rights) which will help you understand what the profession is all about! Learn how it could even be useful to you in your everyday life. Compare what you learn, to what you see on TV – are the TV shows for REAL? Come and find out for yourself!
